

Gary Lockwood

June 7, 1983

Bob Oliver

Rajneesh Festival

This morning I discussed the Oregon State Police plan for dealing with contingencies which might arise during the Rajneesh Festival which apparently will reach its peak around the 4th of July. (The Rajneesh estimate there may be upwards of 12,000 people in attendance.)

Last year, I recall the Military Department kept some helicopters on call during the peak time, in case they might be needed to transport law enforcement personnel to deal with an emergency. Are there any plans along these lines being made this year?

RWO/csh