Dear Colleague:

The Task Force on Industrial Innovation has been working to increase awareness in the House of the role of innovation in improving productivity and keeping pace with our foreign economic competitors. As part of that effort the Task Force and the Congressional Research Service are sponsoring a special seminar on Trends in Industrial Innovation and the U.S. Economy. Members and professional staff are cordially invited to attend this seminar which will be held Wednesday, June 18, from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. in the Whittall Pavilion of the Library of Congress.

The purpose of the seminar is to examine recent trends in industrial innovation and the role of innovation in the U.S. economy. Featured speakers will be Mary Ellen Moguee, of the U.S. Department of Commerce, and Yale University Economics Professor Richard R. Nelson. Comments from the speakers will be followed by audience discussion.

If you or your staff wish to attend, please contact the CRS office of Member and Committee Relations at 287-7904. Questions concerning the Task Force or the seminar's content should be directed to David Knowles at X50855.
