Museum hosts annual Huckleberry Harvest

The Museum at Warm Springs hosted the Thirteenth Annual Huckleberry Harvest at Cascade Locks.

Some of the Harvest activities happened at the Cascade Locks pavilion, and some on the sternwheeler.

"It was great. We had so much fun," said Carol Leone, museum director.

The silent auction was held on the sternwheeler, as was the dinner. The Huckleberry Harvest is the principal annual fundraiser for the museum. "We had a great auctioneer," said Leone.

A special auction raised $10,000 for an audiovisual upgrade at the museum.

During the Huckleberry Harvest, artist Lillian Pitt (left) and Tamera Moody (in regalia) visited with former Oregon governor Vic Atiyeh and wife Delores.
