Dear Anne,

It has taken me much too long to review your draft of our conversation but for a variety reason I have gotten way behind in my important "must do" work. I hope this has not made timing difficult for you.

I am returning your draft with a few clarifying additions and small corrections. It is my hope that you will be using this for information in your total work for if you follow my answers they do not flow without a lot of editing to smooth it out.

The wonderful photos I will keep. The Souk al-Hamidiyya, the Umayyad Mosque and the view of Palmyra brought back some warm memories for me. Thank you.

Now—if you still have some questions or comments I promise to be more prompt in getting back to you. And Becky was thrilled with your thoughtful gift!!

Sincerely,

Dear Governor Atiyeh:

I was delighted to have the opportunity to speak to you earlier today. Thank you for helping me to spell the names of your Japanese friends and associates. Here is the transcript of your fascinating and informative interview about The Museum At Warm Springs.

Enclosed are: — + A SMALL SOUVENIR TO GIVE TO BECKY (FROM MY TRIP TO SYRIA)

- A hard copy of the transcribed interview.
- Hard copies of photos I took of you in you in your office and in the Pi-Ume-Sha parade.
- Hard copies of a few photos from my December trip to Syria.
- A CD with the written transcript (DOCX), the audio file (MP3), and digital image files (JPGs).

Although I realize that you are a busy person, I am requesting a bit of your time to make sure you are represented as accurately as possible. Please review the transcript and send me corrections. Also review the short description of who you are at the top of the transcript. It was difficult to capture all of your roles and accomplishments in a few sentences, so please correct what I wrote.

You can send changes by email or mark up the hard copy and send in the enclosed self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Also, please let me know if you have anything to add that you have thought of since we met.

Lastly, although I did not notice anything in our interview that appeared to be controversial, please let me know if you have any doubts about me identifying you by name in my dissertation or archiving the transcript and audio file at the museum.

Thank you for taking the time to review the transcript. And, again, thank you so much sharing information about your political life, relation to Warm Springs people, and the museum. Your informative interview will contribute greatly to this research project on the creation of The Museum At Warm Springs.

Sincerely,

Anne Marshall, RA
